

INFLUENTIAL WOMEN. The Commercial Real Estate Women of Atlanta — one of the largest industry networking organizations in the Southeast — was scheduled to hold its annual awards May 7.

Sally Elliott, senior vice president and director of operations with PM Realty Group L.P., was to receive the career advancement for women award, recognizing her commitment to helping women advance in commercial real estate.

Elliott joined the organization in 2000 and now serves on the board of directors as treasurer and secretary.

The economic improvement award was to go to Tahmida Shamsuddin, vice president of economic development for Central Atlanta Progress, and Cheryl leasing for General Growth Properties Inc., was to receive the distinguished achievement award. Since 1997, Creekmore held several key posts, including secretary, vice president of membership and Atlanta chapter president. She serves on the national CREW network board of directors.

The connector of the year award was to go to Lori Kilberg, a partner with law firm Hartman, Simons, Spielman & Wood LLP. Kilberg was recognized for her commitment to working with fellow CREW members and referring business to the network.

The company of the year award was to go to Chicago Title Insurance Co., which has supported CREW since 1994. Melissa Hall, vice president at Chicago Title, is CREW Atlanta's president-elect.

The new member of the year award was to go to Ariela Paschal, who works in client services and manages public relations for Innovative Roofing Group Inc. and Katherine Brooks, general manager of Hines Interests L.P.
